DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-11, 15-17, 19 and 21-28, drawn to a sintered porous composite material usable as a filter element, an apparatus for removing contaminants from a fluid stream, and a method for removing material from a fluid, classified in class 95, subclass 273.
  - II. Claims 12-14, drawn to a method of making a porous composite material, classified in class 427, subclass 189.
  - III. Claims 18 and 20, drawn to a supercritical fluid, classified in class 516, subclass 9.
2. Inventions Group I and Group II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different products, such as a composite material wherein the porous nanoparticle material has pores equal in size to the pores in the porous base material. Additionally, the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process, such as a process not comprising isostatic pressing.

3. Inventions Group I and Group III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention Group I has separate utility such as a filter for fluids other than a supercritical fluid, such as diesel engine exhaust gas. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

4. Inventions Group II and Group III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are not related since the method of making a porous composite material of Group II has a different mode of operation and different function than the supercritical fluid of Group III.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II or Group III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

8. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

9. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
